ONLINE SHORT COURSES

Our online short courses are a great way to learn directly from industry professionals, wherever you are, in your own home. Each online short course features twelve weeks of pre-recorded demonstrations, step-by-step guides by industry artists, and fortnightly live-webinars with your industry instructor.

INTRO TO 3D WITH SIMON SCALES

This course is an introduction to creating 3D art in Blender. You will be introduced and guided through techniques that you can use to build and render entire scenes in 3D.

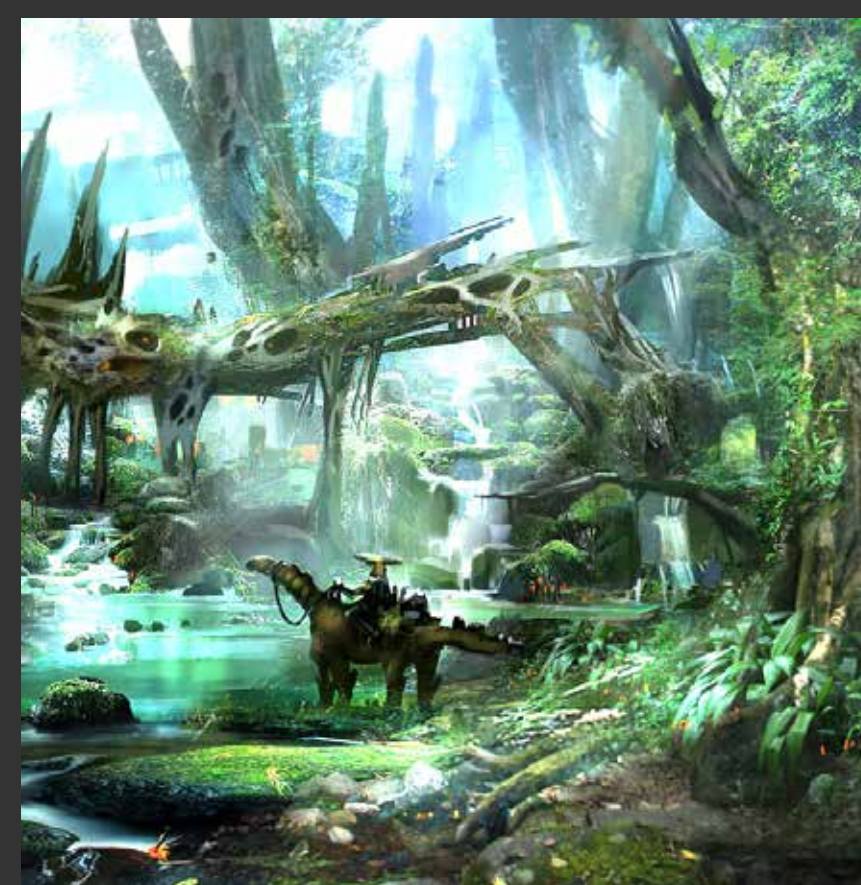

INTRO TO 3D ANIMATION WITH JOE HELMORE

This course is an introduction to learning 3D Animation in Maya. Learn the fundamental principles of animation with an emphasis on how to make that process creative and fun.

INTRO TO CONCEPT ART WITH SIMON SCALES

This course is an introduction to creating concept art for film & games. Learn design fundamentals and start building a portfolio for the entertainment design industry.

INTRO TO CHARACTER DESIGN WITH REBECCA OBORN

This course is an introduction to designing characters. Learn different types of design, drawing and rendering techniques that will allow you to create compelling characters.

HIGH SCHOOL PROGRAMS

CDW Studios offers high schools presentations in-person in the classroom or at one of our studios, as well as online via live webinar. Our presentations are free and run for around 45 minutes. These presentations include videos, Q&A sessions and a live digital painting demo by a professional artist.

For high schools seeking more than 45 minutes with us, we also run a program called 'Designer in Residence'. One day a week we visit a school (either in person or online via live webinar) and run a double lesson in digital art. This takes students through the thinking and doing process of concept art, and introduces tools and tricks of the trade. It builds on their knowledge of Adobe Photoshop, giving them an idea of what it takes to break into the highly competitive film & game industry.

Please contact our friendly staff for more information and to learn about the other programs we can offer your school.
